

REEDS at the Millennium Stadium.

The Project:

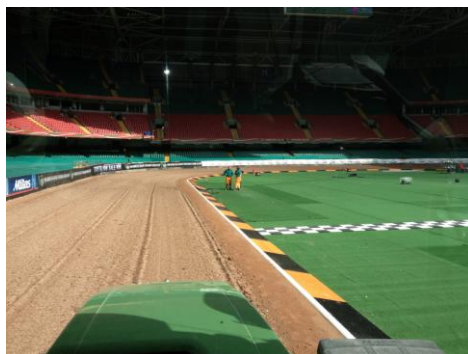

In July 2013, Reeds had to work at the Millennium Stadium to the early hours to dry out the speedway track so that the International Speedway World Cup could take place the next day and the following weekend.

Works:

- A tractor towed spreader was used to spread the drying agent along the speedway track. Filled from a bulk silo outside the stadium.
- Mixing the cement powder using a Meri milling drum to decrease the MCV's.
- This was then graded by the maintenance team that look after the track during the competition.
